What exactly happened is unclear. His story is that he had been giving her money while he was working, but when he was laid off and had no money to give, she dumped him. On the day of the murder he visited her home, she said she would kill him and threw a hatchet at him. He threw it ^{back} at her and she picked up a second hatchet which she wrestled from her. He then struck her three times with this hatchet. The jury found him guilty of 2nd deg murder and the judge called his actions brutal and those of a brute.

One day when he was drunk, he told his mother to leave the room so he could clean up her "water." She didn't, and in one of his fits he struck her with the blunt edge of an axe. He struck her again ~~until~~ till she bled. It was of this injury that she died. The judge gave him a sentence of length enough to rid the poison from his body.
