It was alleged that the parties were drinking in a hotel when the defendants tried to get the victim to return a treat. The victim wouldn't, saying he had better things to do with his money. A quarrel ensued and the men were asked to leave. Then the defendants attacked the victim striking blows which caused his death.

The defendant was charged with kicking the victim when she was in "delicate condition" (I assume this means pregnant).
However, it was satisfactorily proven that the woman had been engaged in a fight with another woman from whom she received fatal injuries.

Rodriguez, a sailor, and several sailor companions were on shore playing music to make money to buy liquor. They had stopped playing and were walking along the street when a gang of men stopped them and asked them to play music. The men refused so the gang of men assaulted them and Rodriguez was killed.

Before the murder, the two men had been quarrelling, Hassen speaking badly of walls' family.
Later, Hassen attacked walls. walls hit Hassen and left. It wasn't until Monday that Hassen learned of Hassen's death.

It was later learned that the blow inflicted by walls' was not strong enough to cause death,
and Hassen must have been in another
fight.

Grady entered Walsh's cigar store, ~~with~~ along with some friends. Mrs. Walsh was attending the store at the time.
She saw that the men were all drunk so she asked them to leave. Grady, the most sober, would not leave unless
Mrs. Walsh gave him 25 cents. She refused and he began yelling abusive threats at her. Mr. Walsh entered, drunk, and a fight ensued during which Walsh was knocked down and killed.

Gentry had been in the same acting company with Drysdale but he was dismissed because he was an alcoholic. On the day of the murder Gentry came to Drysdale's hotel room. She looked up to greet him but he shot her.
Apparently he was very heart because they had been lovers and she didn't want him any more.

(It was alleged that he was drunk at the time of the shooting)

This case takes up pages in the paper and appears to be the most famous of the century. Yet it is so complicated and detailed that I can't understand it. The victim was found burned. I think his death resulted in Holmes desire to make money from an insurance company for his death.
It would take me all day to read the entire case.

It was alleged that the dead man had a quarrel during which Hays knocked McAuliffe. McAuliffe fell into the street, his head striking a cobblestone. He died the next day.

The defense was that Hays had been mistaken for the man who quarrelled with McAuliffe. Hays had been in a similar incident the previous night but the man he was quarrelling with did not die.

DOUGHERTY & KOCHERSPERGER were walking in area that Linder was patrolling. Accused were drunk, and as they passed Linder, Linder said "Hey Charlie where'd you get your tool?" They replied - "Same spot you got yours." A fight began, with each of the defendants hitting Linder & knocking him down. Defendants were arrested by another officer who rushed in to aid Linder. Linder was taken to hospital, where he died. His cause of death though was due to inflammation of the stomach & liver, fatty degeneration of the heart, and Bright's disease of the kidneys. Drs. said that blows received by Linder would not have been fatal in a healthy man. They did not cause death, but hastened his passing.
